Pets are part of the family. We count on our pets for companionship, love, play, exercise and well being. They listen when no-one else will. Many receive therapeutic benefits from pets (pet assisted therapy).

Problem behaviors can interfere with the healthy bond between dog and human, creating stressful situations.

Resource guarding, reactive behavior, biting awareness or other behavior issues, whether learned or inherited, can be unsafe if not managed or modified. Awareness of this is the first step / reward yourself.

Housetraining and natural dog behaviors like digging, barking, jumping, chewing, lunging, excess energy and boredom can be channeled into more positive outlets.

Behavior Counseling

Behavior Counseling or life/wellness coaching is a good opportunity to explore your dog's behaviors, communication approaches, reduce stress and make positive changes.

Individuals are Unique

Behavioral change requires a genuine commitment in how you, family, friends and visitors interact with your dog, in a variety of environmental situations. Each are unique to the dog.

Some behaviors are easy to resolve with awareness, education (daily training), reshaping, redirecting and relationship interaction style.

Other behaviors may require intervention for several months / years - and include environment and management changes.

What to Expect in a Session

- 🐾 Please have a wellness check with your Primary Vet to rule-out medical issues.
- 🐾 A thorough assessment is usually 1-2 hours.
- 🐾 You will be asked to complete a lifestyle/behavior questionnaire before your session.
- 🐾 Members of the family may be encouraged to attend.
- 🐾 Evaluation/observing behavior is performed when/where appropriate and safe.
- 🐾 Problem behaviors and prior approaches in resolving them will be explored/evaluated.
- 🐾 Subsequent sessions may be required.
- 🐾 Dog(s) must be confined and/or managed on leash upon arrival (sanctuary or your home).

Creating a Modification Plan

- 🐾 Recommendations for realistic management, training—and lifestyle changes.
- 🐾 Collaboration with your Primary Vets (triage) is encouraged, especially if medication is required or being used.
- 🐾 Tape recordings / videos of behavior may be necessary for observation.
- 🐾 Homework, commitment and practice is required to create positive change.
